D.C. 'Citizen Briefings' on Garbage

Despite a few impassioned pleas by residents, Daly City's City Council Monday declined to appoint a citizens advisory committee to study a proposed 27 percent garbage rate increase.

However, the council adopted a compromise stance suggested by a resident when it decided to hold two "citizen briefings" on the subject before a public hearing on the rate increase Feb. 13.

The subject of a citizens advisory committee came up when three homeowners associations, the Original Daly City Protective Association, Hillside Homeowners Improvement Club and Crocker Neighborhood Association, wrote letters to the council requesting the formation of a committee.

However, several members of the City Council pointed out that the Daly City Scavenger Co. will begin hauling garbage to the San Francisco transfer station Feb. 15.

The scavenger company has asked that the current charge of $3.45 a month per residence be increased to $4.38 to meet extra costs when the transporting to San Francisco begins.

The company will use the San Francisco facility until the Mussel Rock transfer station is built this summer. The Mussel Rock dump will be closed Feb. 15 by a state order.

The schedule to begin hauling the garbage elsewhere would leave little time for citizens to study the rate increase matter, Councilman Tony Giammona pointed out.

"At this time, I'm not interested in having a garbage committee," Giammona said. "We should proceed with the Ernst and Ernst evaluation."

Councilman William J. Schumacher disagreed with Giammona.

Schumacher said Daly City residents have "misapprehensions, or apprehensions, about the garbage questions. I would strongly urge citizen participation to clear the air."

Both Mayor Albert Teglia and Councilman Victor Kyriakis said they believe a citizens committee might be useful later, but not at present.

The comments provoked a bitter outburst from Harold Calder, president of the Crocker Neighborhood Association and a critic of garbage operations.

"You should have citizen participation before the rate increase, not after," he said with some heat.

"A lot of people are upset about the handling of this issue," he continued. "I would like to see this committee appointed — and soon."

Resident Julius Castelan agreed, adding that citizens also should evaluate water rates.

George Kirchhubel said he is "really disappointed" that the council has not appointed a public utilities commission, with members having six-year terms.

However, the council turned its most attentive ear to Westlake homeowner William Wade, who suggested two "briefings" for citizens — one to allow staff to review thoroughly the evidence for a rate increase and the other to allow residents to ask questions.

The council unanimously agreed to hold the "briefings."

City Manager David Rowe reported that Ernst and Ernst can make its findings "within the next 10 days."

He recommended that the briefings tentatively be set for Feb. 2 and Feb. 6. A firm schedule is to be announced.

In other business, the council:

• Approved a resolution requesting the U.S. Department of Housing and Urban Development for the release of $60 million in federal funds for housing rehabilitation programs, including Daly City's program. Teglia said he and Rowe will meet with Congressional representatives on the matter.

• Said it will explore the possibility of future use of one of the Jefferson Elementary School District's schools to be closed for a permanent senior citizen nutrition program.

WILL IT BE SAVED?

South San Francisco officials are looking into the possibility of restoring and preserving the historic 12-Mile House on Old Mission Road near Grand Avenue. However, according to City Planner Bill Costanzo, the 128-year-old home is in very bad condition, and that efforts to move it might be futile. Costanzo has suggested it might be cheaper to rebuild it than move it.

Union Leader Fights JUHSD Dismissal

The president of the Daly City-Pacifica chapter of the California School Employees Association said Monday she will fight the Jefferson Union High School District's intent to fire her as district receptionist.

Mary Highland, the head of the 150-member secretarial-clerical unit, said the notice of dismissal she has received from the district is "in direct retaliation for my union activities."

However, District Superintendent Dr. Floyd Gonella said the board of trustees' reason for dismissing Ms. Highland relates to "her excessive absences and evidence that there are going to be continual absences."

The board will hold an open hearing on its intent to fire the union president Jan. 31 at Jefferson High School. The 8 p.m. open session was requested by Ms. Highland.

Gonella said Ms. Highland has missed 80 days of work since last February, in addition to days out of work during vacation.

"There's an evident physical inability to perform the work," Gonella said. He said the absences have been disruptive to the office schedule.

Ms. Highland said she has missed 56 days since last February that "were not covered by vacation and sick days."

She related that she was hurt in an accident last Feb. 5 and said, "I was flat on my back for five weeks."

Subsequent absences, she said, were caused by "pinched nerves" that caused pain when "Dr. (Harold) Tonini harassed me."

Ms. Highland claimed that Tonini, the district's deputy superintendent in charge of personnel, has "harassed" her since she complained last year that certain management and confidential employees were given "exorbitant" raises.

The union president said she made the complaint "after the CSEA had been told for months that there was no more money, absolutely none."

Ms. Highland, a three-year employee of the district, said the CSEA membership has passed a resolution condemning Tonini for "subjecting" her to "profane, sexist, prejudiced and entirely uncalled for abusive criticism in front of member witnesses."

"He has gotten very violent and foul-mouthed," Ms. Highland claimed "I'm a lady and I don't expect to be treated this way."

Gonella, speaking on behalf of Tonini, replied, "I don't really know what she means by profane. It has not been explained by her."

However, the superintendent added that "during some discussions, there were strong words that came from all individuals involved."

Ms. Highland said she will fight her dismissal because "I do not intend to allow contract negotiations vital to our members' well being to be derailed.

"The Fair Employment Practices Commisson is conducting an intensive investigation into the sitation and the Equal Employment Opportunity Commission is monitoring the situation carefully," she added.

Ms. Highland said she would take the matter to court if she is fired at the Jan. 31 hearing.

She said she expects many CSEA members to attend the hearing in her support. The CSEA has been negotiating for a new contract under Ms. Highland's leadership for several months.

She said she insisted on the open hearing.

"I feel that if they are going to try to railroad me out of my job and my position as CSEA president, they are going to have to do it in public," she said.

Gonella said the district "stands on its record in dealings with unions. There has never been political harassment of anyone."

The Pacifica City Council Monday unanimously approved a garbage rate increase from $3.75 to $4.75 a month per household to cover the cost of hauling garbage to Ox Mountain near Half Moon Bay.

Although the rate increase takes effect Feb. 1, the Coastside Scavenger Co. will continue trucking garbage to the Mussel Rock dump in Daly City until Feb. 15, the cut-off date for use of Mussel Rock.

Pacifica recently refused to enter in an agreement with Daly City to build a transfer station at Mussel Rock. The Pacifica council may work out an arrangement with Daly City in the future if trucking to Ox Mountain proves too costly.

The agreement approved Monday requires Coastside Scavenger to keep separate records on costs for the haul to Ox Mountain. It provides for an audit of

D.C. Dinner Cut Gets A Pout

In recent years, Daly City's employes who have been given service awards have been feted at a sumptuous dinner at a local restaurant. This year, however, they'll be presented their awards at a special meeting of the City Council Jan. 30. Light refreshments will follow in the lobby. The dinner was a casualty of budget cutting last June. Some of the employes don't see it as a great savings to Daly City's people. "They cut off the dinner the very year I get an award," one employe said with a pout.

Schumacher Motion Denied

Municipal Court Judge James P. Miller has denied a motion for discovery of evidence filed by Daly City City Councilman William J. Schumacher against the San Mateo County District Attorney's Office.

Schumacher, a 40-year-old Daly City attorney, has been charged with a misdemeanor violation of the state's Business and Professions Code in a case relating to his representation of a Brisbane man in court a year ago.

Schumacher, who is an incumbent candidate in the Daly City March 7 council elections, appeared in Judge Miller's South San Francisco court Friday, accompanied by about 40 supporters.

The supporters wore prominent "Schumacher for City Council" campaign buttons.

Schumacher's attorney, William Jack Fahres, said he will appeal to Superior Court next week for the release of the "correspondence, notes and memoranda relating to the case" that Judge Miller denied in the Friday court hearing.

Fahres said the trial date still is set for Feb. 1, although he indicated that the request for a writ from the appellate division of the San Mateo County Superior Court may delay the trial.

The district attorney's office has charged that Schumacher, while defending Brisbane resident Michael D'Achille, instructed his client to submit an invalid driver's license to Judge Charles Becker. D'Achille was convicted of drunken driving in December 1976.

D'Achille allegedly made the complaint against Schumacher last summer.

Schumacher has charged that the district attorney is trying to damage his political career because of Sorenson's alleged belief that Schumacher desires to become district attorney.

Schumacher's attorney attempted Friday to introduce testimony by Robert M. Stables, an inspector with the district attorney's office and a former sergeant with the Daly City Police Department.

Fahres said Stables, who worked with Schumacher when the attorney was a Daly City police officer, was questioned by Assistant District Attorney William Larsen about Schumacher's political intentions.

However, Judge Miller did not permit testimony by Stables on the matter.

Driver Pans SamTrans

The bus driver w alerted the Pacifica Ci Council to problems wit San Mateo County Transit District service claimed Monday night that the company has no use for suggestions by drivers.

Driver Stephen King, a Pacifica resident, remarked that all the suggestions he made to SamTrans supervisors in letters, daily route reports, conversations and two formal interviews were ignored.

King said Al Cianfichi, director of planning, told him he would not accept drivers' recommendations for route changes or revisions because "that is not what they are getting paid for."

Cianfichi denied Monday

Angry Pacificans Lambast Bus Service—Or Lack of It

By TERRY DAVENPORT

Officials from the San Mateo County Transit District had difficulty convincing Pacifica residents Monday that SamTrans intends to improve bus service to the Coastside.

Although the SamTrans representatives repeatedly said they were open to suggestions, they did not offer solutions to the transportation problems that Pacificans pointed out.

The only reassuring news, they indicated, was that a full-time service manager had been assigned to Pacifica as of Monday "to act as a ramrod to drivers."

SamTrans director of planning Al Cianfichi stressed that his company didn't make many changes when it took over Pacifica bus routes last July.

In fact, Cianfichi said, a SamTrans report released Monday showed that 3,342 Pacificans rode its buses on Nov. 30, 1977, compared to 2,081 Pacificans a year earlier.

"There is very little difference in service," Cianfichi declared.

All five City Council members and 10 residents rebutted that statement with horror stories about SamTrans scheduling.

Sean McNally, a student at College of San Mateo who lives in Pacifica, said it takes him 6½ hours each day to commute to and from CSM for classes running from 8 a.m. to 5 p.m.

She's Not Finished, She Hopes

Jane Powell, who resigned from the Daly City Recreation Commission and the Task Force Advisory Committee, found herself being commended by Councilman Tony Giammona recently for many years of service to Daly City. Mrs. Powell replied demurely and with a slight twinkle in her eye that she hopes to continue to serve the city. Particularly March 7 and after, she could have added. Mrs. Powell is a candidate for Daly City City Council.

Council Going Back To Attorney General

Pacifica City Council members voted Monday to ask state Attorney General Evelle Younger to take a second look at an opinion he recently issued.

In the opinion, Younger ruled that it is incompatible for Councilman Mark Savage to remain on the council while he serves as director of Pacifica's Youth Service Bureau.

The opinion was requested nearly two years ago by Councilman Stanley Farber, who serves on the board of directors of the Youth Service Bureau. Younger said that Farber does not have a conflict of interest.

Savage left the room while the council discussed the matter.

Farber told the council that he had abstained when the board of the Youth Service Bureau voted last week to allow Savage to keep both jobs.

"I said I would ask for direction from the council," Farber explained.

Although Farber said he believes the attorney general reached the wrong conclusion, he noted, "As long as I've been on the council, I have never known the City of Pacifica to ignore an attorney general's opinion."

Farber asked the council to either explain to Younger, "where we think his information is wrong," or to accept Younger's opinion.

City Attorney Robert Lanzone said he didn't think litigation would be necessary.

"From my information, it's very clear that the attorney general doesn't understand what the Youth Service Bureau does," Lanzone remarked, adding that the problem might be resolved with a 10-minute phone call.

Presumably, Lanzone will make that phone call soon. By a 4-0 vote, the council authorized him to take whatever action is necessary to bring all the facts of the situation before the attorney general.

Meanwhile, Savage will continue to hold both jobs.

least 100 people at CSM who are from Pacifica. I think I'm the only one who takes the bus and I think you can see why," McNally remarked.

A member of Pacifica's Transportaton and Safety Commission, Hugh Miller, said he commuted to his job in San Francisco by bus for 17 years, but no longer could afford to do so.

"It takes me 3½ hours to make the round trip. It used to take me an hour and 35 minutes," Miller reported.

James McCainey complained that SamTrans discriminates by providing better and cheaper service to customers on the Bayside of the Peninsula.

Gloria Burdick said she waited in tears Christmas Eve for a SamTrans bus that never arrived.

"Fortunately I have a family who will pick me up, but I know people who don't have a family," she commented, adding that one little old lady had been forced to stay overnight in a rundown San Francisco hotel because a SamTrans bus never came.

Edna Holmstrem of Seniors in Action said the fate of the Oddstad Senior Center depends on whether SamTrans can restore previous bus service.

Others complained that SamTrans buses are not scheduled to connect with BART trains.

Gianfichi said SamTrans is acting to solve three basic problems: Buses that can't climb hills, such as the one to Oddstad Center; drivers who aren't familiar with Pacifica, and a lack of supervisory personnel.

Attorney Mulls TV Pact

Pacifica City Attorney Robert Lanzone said Monday that a questionable clause in a franchise agreement proposed by Tele-Communications, Inc., had prompted him to study the city's arrangement with the cable television company.

Although the city hadn't heard from TCI in months, Lanzone said, he received a startling letter two days ago in which the company threatened to raise rates if an agreement isn't signed by March 1.

Lanzone said he is confident Pacifica can work out an agreement by then. The council authorized him to begin litigation against TCI if the cable company raises its rates without council approval.

In other action:

Councilman Stanley Farber said the council's subcommittee on a corporation yard is waiting to see which schools the Laguna Salada Union School District will close.

After learning that the state Coastal Zone Commission may not fund a study of a harbor as part of Pacifica's Local Coastal Plan, the council voted to write to the commission urging that this part of the plan not be omitted.

The council reappointed Joseph Greene to the Planning Commission and Patricia Ostovar to the Hillside Review Board.

Those applying for the Transportation and Safety Commission will be interviewed by the council prior to a study session on Feb. 1.

years, presently at 5 Coronado Drive. He's a native of Pittsburgh, Pa.

The candidate served a term on the San Mateo County Board of Education and presently is a director of the San Mateo County Arts Council. He was named recently to Daly City's new Arts, History and Science Commission.

BATES WAS elected chairman of the new city commission, but decided to step down when he made the decision to run for council.

Bates terms Daly City's biggest problem as "inactivity."

He said City Council "had funds for the housing rehabilitation loan program for a long time, but didn't get going until before the elections. Everything is geared to elections now."

HE ALSO pointed out that council's hearings on Vista Grande, the Daly City cable television franchise company's operations, have been set for April "so the incumbents won't get any static from residents."

Bates said he was prompted to run by "the real lack of candidates. Nobody with any qualifications better than mine came out to challenge the incumbents. I believe incumbents should always be challenged."

The candidate said he believes councilmen should serve only two terms "so they won't get complacent."

IF HE is elected, Bates said he will "go out in the community to talk to people who don't like to get up and speak at meetings."

He called residential rehabilitation "a people program — much better than residential redevelopment would have been."

He said he supports commercial redevelopment of Mission Street but is concerned that it is moving slowly.

"NOBODY is really pushing," he commented. "Lethargy has set in."

He said recent assertions of residents that there's too much staff control are "another indication that no strong leadership is being exerted. Decisions should not be made behind closed doors."

"A good example is the Original Daly City Protective Association," he said of closed-door decisions. "They were blasting away at incumbents. Then they turn right around and endorse them. It smacks of deals."

Bates said Daly City needs more open governmental and political workings to improve its image.

"DALY CITY always has been thought of as a political town. But the political image could be broken down," he said.

On the question of whether the city should expand its borders, Bates said, "I don't think Broadmoor wants annexation, but it would be the best thing for the Broadmoor people. Broadmoor is like a hole in the doughnut. It makes for poor planning when you have an unincorporated area in the middle of a city."

The candidate said he believes Daly City has a good Recreation Department, but added, "I would like to see more team activities for kids. Perhaps one of the schools that may be closed could be turned into a teen center."

Powell —

for the Daly City General Plan.

Until recently, Mrs. Powell also was a member of the Daly City Recreation Commission and its representative to the Housing and Community Development Act Task Force.

She resigned from the posts, noting that such an action was traditional for Daly City political candidates.

MRS. POWELL, who is employed as a student services aide at Mills High School in Millbrae, is a native San Franciscan.

Mrs. Powell, who has resided in Daly City for 18 years, believes that the city's biggest problem is "communications to all of the people."

She said she believes residents want a City Council that is "responsible to all."

THE CANDIDATE went on to say that while representatives of one area of the city, "Old Daly City" are vocal, others are not.

She said she is concerned that the less vocal areas "don't feel represented."

Mrs. Powell said she's received her share of "2 a.m. phone calls from JUHSD parents and I feel no hesitancy in calling on people."

IN OTHER city issues, Mrs. Powell said she supports the city's residential rehabilitation program, but thinks there should be a maximum loan level of $10,000 to $15,000.

"That would make it possible for more people to participate in the program," she said of the federally-funded, housing fix-up loan program.

She said the housing rehabilitation loans should include "repairs that are necessary," rather than adding "dishwashers and garbage disposals" to the residences.

THE CITY SHOULD work harder to accommodate businesses, she said, pointing out a case where a Daly City business recently moved to Brisbane "because he couldn't find what he wanted in Daly City."

The candidate said she supports the City Council's recent decision to construct a garbage transfer to serve only Daly City, when Pacifica lost interest in a regional operation.

"I would rather have the transfer station here where we can control the rates," she said. "If we went to San Francisco for a long-term contract, there would be no local control. We would be at the mercy of anyone who took us on contract."

ON THE QUESTION of whether Daly City should expand its borders, Mrs. Powell said annexation of the Crocker Industrial Park on the other side of San Bruno Mountain "would be an advantage to Daly City."

She said she's not sure that the Broadmoor-unincorporated Colma area would be a similar advantage, "if they don't want to come into Daly City."

Mrs. Powell said she would oppose a further contractual arrangement with the Broadmoor Police Protection District.

"IT WOULD dilute our Police Department," she said.

Mrs. Powell said if she were residing in Broadmoor she would press the Police Commission "to search harder" for insurance to operate an independent department.

Pacifica Stalls Sweeney

Over the protests of Councilman Mark Savage, the Pacifica City Council decided Monday night to discuss at a study session on April 5 a developer's proposal to build 3,550 units on Sweeney Ridge.

Savage said he thought the proposal should be discussed before the March 7 election, so residents could see how candidates stand on the issue.

Councilman Stanley Farber commented, "It would be a waste of council and staff time to present it to a council that might not be there later." He said the topic is being adequately discussed in debates between candidates.

The three council members running for re-election — Farber, Sidney Lorvan and Janice Fulford — outvoted Savage 3-1 to set the April 5 study session.

Councilmen Nick Gust had excused himself from the discussion since he has stock in the company that owns the land proposed for the development.

these records and allows Pacifica to change the garbage disposal site at any time.

At first, Mario Torregino of Coastside Scavenger wanted to begin taking garbage to Ox Mountain on Feb. 1 to avoid complicated billing during February. The council suggested that he continue dumping at Mussel Rock until Feb. 15. Any profit will be reflected in the separate records that will be audited.

The council voted to pay the Envirotech Corporation $5,250 to study its troublesome sewage treatment plant and sum up findings in 90 days.

Closings Challenge Laguna Salada Chief

Superintendent James Brien had asked trustees in the Laguna Salada Union School District for specific guidelines on closing schools, but he settled for vague ones Thursday night.

After listening to trustees debate for over an hour, Brien said he would use the general criteria they had presented to come back with a detailed recommendation on which schools to close.

"I'll accept the challenge," Brien remarked.

Trustees are expected to close several schools in the district by March 1 since pupil enrollment is declining steadily. Compared to 8,362 students registered in 1972 and 5,252 enrolled this year, Brien predicts there will be only 4,051 pupils in 1981.

Trustee Marilyn Wills began the discussion by listing seven criteria on which other board members elaborated.

All trustees agreed with Mrs. Wills that the main objective of closing schools should be to improve the quality of education. Side benefits of shutting schools would include having more funds available and decreasing the number of combined-grade classes, she said.

Mrs. Wills also suggested setting housing goals in the district for two to three years, avoiding more than one school switch per child in kindergarten through eighth grade, minimizing the educational loss, altering the arrangement of Ortega School, leasing as many excess school sites as possible and retaining current lessees of school space.

Brien cautioned the board that many school districts are closing schools and "it's becoming a lessees' market."

Trustee John Plato proposed that each trustee voice his upper limit on the number of schools that should be closed. "My upper limit is five schools. I believe closing four is more realistic," Plato said.

But Mrs. Wills and Trustee Grady Hesters argued that talking numbers is senseless until the education programs are figured out. "I don't have an outside limit . . . It would depend on whether I thought the quality of education could be enhanced by closing, say, three or four," Hesters said.

Hesters said he favors reducing the ratio of pupils per teacher in the district. As he read data from a long-range study of the schools, Hesters said the objective most often expressed is to cut that ratio.

Plato pointed out that parents might be less likely to accept cutting class size as a goal. "If I were a parent in a school that was going to close in order to reduce the pupil-teacher rate from 27 to 26, I don't think I'd go for it," he explained.

A basic difference in philosophy was expressed by Trustee Curtiss Landers, who said he doubted trustees could predict the educational outcome of school closures.

"Necessarily, we're going to be taking some chances," Landers argued.

He suggested letting the district staff grapple with the problem of which schools to close so that trustees could spend more time figuring out what to do with the extra money the district would receive.

Hesters disagreed. "As a parent, I want to know what I'm getting in return for closing schools right away," he said.

Board members sighed as Anne Shea, president of the Laguna Salada Educational Association, presented an initial contract proposal to them for the 1978-79 school year. Negotiations on the current teachers' contract were completed recently.

One major difference from the current contract is that teachers are asking for salary increases equal to the cost-of-living increase or equal to the average salary paid in San Mateo County school districts, whichever is greater.

Teachers also are seeking financial compensation for workshops and travel they undertake to improve their fields of specialization, and pay for two percent who wish to go on sabbatical leave. In addition, they ask that they be allowed to help determine curriculum in groups rather than as individuals.

LSEA will explain the contract to parents Feb. 1 at 4 p.m. at the union office, 80 Eureka Square, Pacifica.

Jefferson to Study Future Population Characteristics

A $4,000 demographic study was approved by the Jefferson Union High School District Board of Trustees Tuesday night. The results are to be ready by late summer.

Mary Rainsford, an early retirement consultant, will do the study this spring on expected future decreases in enrollment in the district's schools.

According to Superintendent Floyd Gonella, the study will be useful in determining minority housing patterns — something that must be considered prior to any boundary changes.

Gonella added that the study also would be helpful when looking at alternate uses of facilities and at implementation of the district master plan throughout the various schools.

On another agenda item, the trustees learned that Thornton High School has been selected as one of 10 Bay Area schools to receive a $6,600 California School Improvement Planning Grant.

According to Gonella, a school site council composed of parents, students and faculty have until June this year to complete planning activities.

If the state feels the proposed planning activities are satisfactory, then Thornton will receive an additional $7,150 to implement the plans.

Thomas Mohr, Thornton principal, said he is not certain what shape the planning activities will take but that they will focus on student needs.

In other business the board:

COURSES — Approved two new courses for Terra Nova High School. The first course, titled Spirit Staff, will stress proficiency in cheerleading, pompon and mascot skills. The second course, titled Music History — From Bach to Rock, will survey many styles of music from pre-historic times to the present.

SENIOR — Welcomed Donna Sims, a 17-year-old senior from Oceana High School, as new student representative to the board.

Serramonte Teen Club Plans Trip

The new Serramonte Area Teen Club, sponsored by the Daly City Recreation Dept., is planning a snow trip to Leland Meadows in Stanislaus National Forest Feb. 4.

Teens will leave Daly City's Gellert Park at 5 a.m. via charter bus for a full day of tobogganing and snow play on the controlled slopes at Leland Meadows. Return time is 9 p.m. Cost of the outing is $13.50 for members and $14.50 for guests. Memberships in the growing teen club are available with trip registration at $1.

Sign-ups will be taken through Feb. 1 at the Serramonte tennis courts, 75 Margate, and the recreation office, 134 Hillside Blvd. More information may be obtained by calling the recreation office.

Driver

that he had made those statements.

When Pacifica Councilman Mark Savage asked Cianfichi, "Do drivers give you advice?" Ciannfichi replied, "No, not normally. They only have a knowledge of a specific area."

Cianfichi explained that route changes are derived from statistics turned in by all drivers.

The SamTrans official said drivers are told to make route suggestions to their supervisors, who then forward them to the company's planning department.

"The planning department reviews them and sees if they have any merit," he said.

King also had some comments about remarks made by SamTrans general manager John Mauro.

Mauro said last week that King's complaints about bus service were the remarks of a "disgruntled employee" who is on bad terms with his union because he was not re-elected to a union office. He added that King is a part-time employee who attends school in his off hours.

King remarked Monday, "I am not part-time and do not attend school if I work 55 hours per week for SamTrans."

King continued, "My name was left on the ballot for a union position due to a clerical error. I did not seek re-election."

King noted that he recently went to court to get a clarification about a loss of wages he suffered due to being suspended by SamTrans for three days without pay because he had attended a meeting as a union official.

Friends of Library Plan Book Fair

"Valentine Book Fair for Book Lovers" has been chosen as the theme for The Friends of the Daly City Library Book Fair to be held Feb. 4 from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. in the glassed-in Garden Court of the Westlake Shopping Center, plus adjoining undercover mall and lanai facing the western parking lot. A holiday aura, coupled with some outstanding collections, will prevail.

Silent auctions of unusual books will be at 10 and 11 a.m.

One of the unique offerings is the entire collection of classical albums of "78" records which have been the property of a Bay Area college. Other records also are available.

The truckloads of books are well balanced for use as home study, research and pleasure. Over 60 boxes of children's books for all ages have been priced at 5 cents and up. Mostly priced at 25 cents each or six for a $1 are over 50 boxes of hard-back novels in good condition, plus mysteries and science fiction. Most paperbacks are 15 cents each, four for 50 cents.

Special interest books include, in part, law, business and accounting. All fields of math are represented. In good numbers are books on correct English, as well as books in many foreign languages. Numerous cook books, plus gardening, sewing, sports and craft books have been processed. Available are books on child raising, psychology and health.

Last minute donations may be left at any of the four Daly City public libraries.

The Friends are getting cooperation in setting up and closing from Scouts and 4-H and fire and recreation departments. Older boys and men members of The Friends will help, some providing trucks, but additional help or trucks are needed.

Focus on Quake Badge

Their own troop's "Earthquake Awareness" badge was the focus for Daly City Girl Scout Troop 1542 when they attended the Department of Motor Vehicles open house program earlier this month to exhibit their badgework.

Within the structure of badges, Girl Scouting provides for any troop to, within certain guidelines, develop its own individual badges.

The girls set their own goals and fulfilled them for this unique Earthquake Awareness study. The girls met and were invited to visit City Hall by Mayor Al Teglia.

They were also introduced to and explained earthquake awareness to Assemblymen Louis J. Papan and John Doran and Peter J. Markovich, manager of the Daly City Chamber of Commerce.

Anita Bender, Tysann Crittle, Vivian Feng, Dinorah Gil, Nora Claudia Martin, Debbie Salgado, Cindy Sans, Jolene Valente and Rita Villolobos are led by Alberta Crittle, Carol and Kim Klatt and Rosemary Valente.

Adults accompanying the girls as helpers included Mrs. Ana Gil and Mrs. Rita Villalobos. Brownies Kianga Crittle and Elba Gil also attended.

Airport Budget Up

A $64 million budget, up $24 million from last year, was presented Tuesday to the San Francisco Airports Commission. Adoption is expected Jan. 24.

Airport staffers said the increases are due to rising costs for personnel, equipment and supplies, and would require increases in airport landing fees and rentals.

Airports Director Richard Heath said landing fees — now 40 cents per 1,000 pounds of landed weight — would be tripled to $1.20.

The increases would not hurt the taxpayers of San Francisco, he said. For the 21st consecutive year, the airport has been self-supporting.

A spokesman for the Air Transport Association challenged the need for such hearty increases.

If the city had not siphoned off some $2 million per year from airport revenues to the city's general fund, he said, such increases would not be necessary.

Commissioner William E. McDonnell said he is willing to shave the proposed budget by $6 million.

He listed several proposed cuts, which could reduce the budget by about $4 million, and said there are others.

Commissioner Ruth Kadish and McDonnell questioned Director Heath about a proposed increase in airport legal staffing.

City Attorney George Agnost reported that he and Heath conferred and came up with the suggested increases.

The airport has been poorly represented by the city attorney's office in the past, he said. In effect, the airport has had the services of 3.5 lawyers from his office, and has been billed for "X dollars" per year for services of legal secretaries.

Under the new plan, eight full-time lawyers would be assigned to offices at the airport. In addition there would be five full-time secretaries, plus an annual charge of "X dollars" to provide for services and training by the city attorney's office.

Kadish and McDonnell insisted on knowing just how many dollars were represented by "X."

Commissioner Kadish said it probably will cost $100,000 to remodel airport office space to house the new legal staff.

Heath said the budget should be accepted and reported to the city controller's office by Jan. 20. He said he and the airport financial officer had not been aware of this deadline until recently.

Heath urged the commission to adopt the budget as a tentative figure which could be reduced later.

Commissioners said they need more time to review the proposals and need more details on certain items.

They scheduled the Jan. 24 meeting at 2:30 p.m., knowing their regular city hall meeting room probably will not be available. Staffers said they would likely meet at the Department of Public Health building, 101 Grove St.

Heath said the proposed $64 million budget does not include costs of the new North Terminal which is to open at mid-year. A supplemental budget of $15 million is expected to be submitted when that opens, he said.

In outline, the proposed airport budget would allot $9.3 million to paying off outstanding bonds, $11.3 million for capital improvements, $5.2 million for heating, power, and lighting, $7.4 million for refurbishing older buildings, $9.7 million for runway and taxiway repair and maintenance.

Heath said the airport's increased costs include a $5.2 million hike in cost of electricity, the costs of 14 new positions, including the new lawyers, and general inflation.

Ram-blings

By STEVE KAUFMAN
Commissioner of Publicity

Many of the community colleges are nearing the end of their semesters and are assigning finals to their students. Thus is the situation at Westmoor High School. We are approaching the end of the second quarter and many of the students are studying for the Big Tests. So parents, please be patient with us and help us make it through this most difficult time!

Candidates running for student body officers gave their campaign speeches in the Little Theater Jan. 18. At the time this column is being written the voting has not yet taken place. However, the list of candidates running for office are: President, Gary Robinson and Steve Boids; Vice-President, Darold Wood; Secretary, Kris Tong; Commissioner of Clubs, Gerardo Balagot; Commissioner of Entertainment, Kathy Bolton; Commissioner of Publicity, myself; and Parliamentarian, Dave Yarnold and Sanjay Gujral. Best of luck to all these candidates. I will announce the winners in this column next week.

ON JAN. 12, Westmoor had another mini-arena. This is the most effective way I've ever seen to take care of students who need program changes next semester. Students come into the cafeteria at 8 a.m. and are given the request form they filled out the previous week.

This form has the student's old program and the new one he proposes to change into. He walks into the cafeteria and goes to the teachers he has presently, gets his IBM cards for the classes he is dropping and gives them to the teachers whose class he is adding. The frequent forms are initialed by the teachers and the change is complete. The cafeteria is broken up into sections (English, Math, etc.) and all the teachers are at this arena.

Thus the average student can take care of his new semester changes and end up with a new schedule in less than five minutes. This effectively eliminates the counselors having to handle all the new changes and allows the student to choose the classes he wants.

I myself went to the arena and was once again impressed with how smooth it went. Hundreds of changes were handled in as little as 2½ hours. School started at 10 a.m. to compensate for the time spent in the arena. My congratulations to Doris Lindfors, who arranged all the student assistants in the arena.

WESTMOOR'S ANNUAL spirit week is coming up Feb. 6 to 10. The days are chosen in a poll taken of all the students in Westmoor. The final choices are: T-shirt Day, Famous People Day, Gangster and Roaring 20's Day, 69's Revival Day and individual class theme. The students dress up according to the day and there is always competition between all four classes during both lunches.

Spirit Week plays a big role in spirit points, which in turn add up toward the Perpetual Trophy, the coveted award given to the class with the most spirit all year. This award has been won by the class of '79 for the last two years. So if your son or daughter walks out the front door looking like Al Capone, don't worry. It's all in fun!

KRAM, the school's own radio station, is having a candy sale to raise money to buy records. They are selling it at school and in the community. All money raised will go to the station and eventually to many record stores. I wish them lots of luck in the sale.

KATHY BOLTON, the commissioneR of entertainment, is working very hard on a dance contest. Students who have talent in the area of dancing may sign up in the main office. On Jan. 30 these students will compete against each other to see who is the best dancer in Westmoor. Even the teachers are signing up! There are only two rules: Dance to your own music and dance either alone or with another person. It will be held fourth and fifth period lunches. Some of the school's acclaimed dancers already have signed up. Good luck to Kathy and best of luck to the entrants.

WESTMOOR RECEIVED a nice honor recently. The San Mateo Foundation donated $600 to be used on some school-community interaction. Several community groups at Westmoor are being considered and the money will be given after some careful thought by the executive board. I would personally like to thank the Foundation for this extremely generous gift.

BEST OF LUCK to Westmoor's Music Dept. It has a busy schedule ahead. A musical show called "Jazz '78" is being put on by the Jazz Band Jan. 24 in the Little Theater. The band wants to raise money for its yearly trip to Reno, Nev. in March to participate in the Reno Jazz Festival.

Among the songs being played are the themes from Police Story and Kojak. Rocky, the hit motion picture, also will be featured as one of the musical selections. Also, music from Stevie Wonder and Henry Mancini will be played. The girls of Swing Choir also will perform.

The department also is having a 24-hour music marathon. In an effort to raise money, the department will play music for a full 24 hours and people sponsor them for a certain amount per hour. These dedicated musicians are to be commended on their efforts to raise money for this good cause. I hope that all goes well and that enough is raised to ensure a good trip!

Decorator's Show House

Carolands Site Chosen

The Carolands Chateau, the Hillsborough mansion most recently owned by Roz Franks, will be the setting for the 21st annual Decorator's Show House, sponsored by the Coyote Point Museum Auxiliary.

The annual display of rooms decorated by select interior designers will be open to the public between April 23 and May 14.

The Chateau, designed in Beaux Arts Classic style by the collaboration of Willis Polk and two French architects, was built in 1913 by Francis J. Carolan and his wife, railroad car heiress Harriet Pullman Carolan. The Carolans lived there only briefly before World War I interrupted their social plans.

The mansion virtually stood vacant until 1945 until it was purchased by Tomlinson I. Moseley. Three years later, it was sold to Mrs. S. Coe Robinson. Countess Lilliam Remillard Dandini purchased the Carolands in 1950 and, until her death in 1973, it was used as the setting for a number of musical and charitable events. The countess willed the mansion to the city of Hillsborough on the condition that it be used as a cultural-center library, but after a long hassle, it was sold.

Originally located on 554.34 acres of property, the mansion now stands on six acres. It consists of more than 90 rooms and a total space of more than 210,000 square feet.

District Attorney's Office to Review Election Proposals

Alterations to two proposed amendments to the San Mateo County Charter—one dealing with election of supervisors by district and the other with filling vacancies on the Board of Supervisors—will be reviewed this week by the district attorney's office.

Supervisors Tuesday postponed approval of the two measures for the June 6 ballot until the legality of requiring district elections if passed in June to become effective in November and allowing the board more than 60 days to call a special election to fill a vacancy can be determined.

Last year the board approved placing the two charter amendments on the ballot.

Proposition A would allow the board to call a special election in 60 days to fill a vacancy on the board before the governor could make an appointment. Current law provides that the governor shall make all appointments to fill vacancies in supervisorial seats.

Tuesday, the board agreed that the district attorney's office should look into allowing the board some flexibility beyond the 60 days to call an election to fill a vacancy. The intent of such a move would be to coordinate an election to fill a vacancy with a regularly scheduled election.

A special election would cost taxpayers about $100,000.

Proposition B would provide that all supervisors be elected only in the district in which they reside and that such a requirement become effective at the 1980 supervisorial elections. Supervisors currently are elected county-wide.

At the suggestion of Supervisor William Royer, the board agreed to allow the district attorney's office to review the appropriateness of providing that the measure, if passed in June, become effective at the November general election.

Supervisors John Ward, Fred Lyon and Edward Bacciocco stated they opposed such a provision, but they agreed to allow the district attorney to study it.

Both Ward and Bacciocco face re-election in November.

Cow Palace Hosts Big Poultry Show

The biggest-yet Cow Palace Poultry Show will be the weekend of Jan. 28 and 29. Approximately 3,500 chickens, ducks, geese and turkeys — representing some 150 classic breeds and varieties — will be on exhibit. The show will be open to the public for 14 hours, 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. Saturday and 9 a.m. to 3 p.m. Sunday.

Licensed poultry judges from all over the country will select the best birds in each breed and variety Saturday. By Sunday morning, the cages along "champions row" will be filled with the best bird of each breed. One cage there will have within it the finest bird of all, the grand champion.

The country's best bantams (small versions of large breeds) and White Leghorns will be on hand because the show is the National Meet for both the American Bantam Association and the American White Leghorn Club.

Commercial booths will sell chickens, ducks, geese and all kinds of poultry equipment and literature.

This will be the 30th annual midwinter show put on by the Pacific Poultry Breeders Association, a western group of amateur poultry breeders. Admission is $2 for adults and 50 cents for children.

Chamber of Commerce Considers Dropping Miss Pacifica Pageant

The Pacifica Chamber of Commerce may cancel the Miss Pacifica Pageant Monday because of declining interest.

Although the deadline for entries for the April contest was midnight Friday, the chamber had not received a single entry by 9 a.m.

"This has never happened before. Last year we had 10 entries," said Marge Tenney, who is in charge of entries.

Discussing the lack of entries Thursday night with other persons working on the pageant, Mrs. Tenney said the group decided to meet Monday to consider cancelling the contest.

In addition to the lack of entries, she said the fact that many former pageant workers had left the area might influence their decision.

Mrs. Tenney noted, "It's been getting harder and harder to find girls to run, with the new women's lib movement and other pageants that don't require any talent."

She said the pageant committee had to schedule the pageant a month earlier than usual this year.

"With the holidays, that hasn't given people enough time," she pointed out.

Troubles with the Miss Pacifica Pageant began last year, when the Chamber of Commerce decided not to send a representative to the county's Fiesta Dream Girl Pageant, charging that the Dream Girl contest focuses only on looks.

The decision was made after the chamber spoke with Marcia Brickley, who, as runner-up in the Miss Pacifica Pageant, would have been the city's representative in the Dream Girl contest.

Water Service Co. Seeks Lifting of Rationing Penalties

The California Water Service Co. will file an application with the California Public Utilities Commission to discontinue as soon as possible water rationing penalty assessments levied against its approximately 62,000 customers in San Mateo County.

This was the announcement today of Donald Houck, vice president of the utility company, who noted the assessments were begun last spring because of drought conditions.

Penalities of $2 per unit have been levied against approximately 12 percent of the company's customers. A unit consists of 100 cubic feet or 748 gallons.

In its application to the PUC, the company noted that because of recent heavy rainfall, the mandatory rationing plan of the company's main wholesale supplier, the San Francisco Water Department, is being considered for modification.

Until that time, the water service company maintains that it is reasonable that its customers be relieved of any further economic penalties.

According to Houck, the request to discontinue penalty assessments was prompted by the outstanding conservation efforts by customers and by below normal consumption during the current winter months.

Houck announced that the PUC has been asked to act immediately on the company's request. He said customers should continue conservation habits and avoid wasting of water, however, since the mandatory water rationing program of the San Francisco Water Department is still in effect.

San Francisco Water Department officials are currently surveying the snow level in the high Sierras, from where it brings its water through the Hetch Hetchy system.

The California Water Service Co. has 12,100 connections in South San Francisco, 1,600 in Broadmoor, 22,800 in San Mateo, 9,000 in San Carlos and 15,900 in the Bear Gulch District, composed of Menlo Park, Atherton, Woodside and Portola Valley.

The company has collected $315,000 between July 1, when the penalities went into effect and Oct. 1.

The company is the first to ask the PUC to do away with the penalities.

Contract To Be Sought

There was a grim tone to the Broadmoor Police Commission meeting this week.

The commission, conceding that it still has not obtained liability insurance to reinstate its independent police department, decided last Tuesday to set up contact talks with the San Mateo County Sheriff's Office, Daly City and Colma.

Commissioner Randy Wall, who's been seeking liability insurance proposals on behalf of the Broadmoor Police Protection District, reported briefly that he's "still waiting on the other third of the liability insurance package."

Wall said he has quotations for false arrest insurance and coverage for the police vehicles, but has been unable to get a commitment for general liability insurance.

The Broadmoor Police Department has not operated since Dec. 21, 1976, when its liability insurance was cancelled.

A temporary police service contract with Daly City expires Feb. 28, Commission Chairman Wayne Johnson pointed out.

"I believe we should talk to other agencies about the possibilities of assisting us with a short-term contract," Johnson said.

Questioned later, Johnson said he would consider a short-term contract to be six months to a year in length, with a "reasonable concellation clause."

Johnson said he believes the department will be resurrected, if not by the end of February, within the time span of another temporary contract.

The commissioners decided to divide up the contract talks among the three of them, with Johnson contacting Daly City, Wall holding discussions with the sheriff's office and commissioner Joseph Fillo contacting Colma.

Johnson asked for volunteers to serve on a citizens, committee to negotiate with the three jurisdictions.

From the audience, former Police Commissioner Dean Davenport and residents Ralph Damon and Ed Thorne raised their hands. They were appointed to participate in talks with all three jurisdictions.

Service School Entries

U.S. Senator S. I. Hayakawa (R-Calif.) announced today that next month he will begin accepting applications for the United States Air Force, Naval, and Merchant Marine academies for the class of 1983, which enters in the summer of 1979. Hayakawa has no appointment vacancies for the U.S. Military Academy at West Point for this class.

Candidates should arrange to participate in either the American College Testing Assessment (ACT) or the College Board Scholatic Aptitude Test (SAT). The competition for appointment is based on the candidate's high school rank, performance on either the ACT or SAT, and leadership potential.

Interested individals must meet certain requirements specified by public law. He or she, under the law, must be at least 17 to 22 years of age by July 1, 1979; be a U.S. citizen at the time of enrollment and be unmarried.

Applications should be sent to Senator S.I. Hayakawa, 6217 Dirksen Senate Office Building, Washington, D.C. 20510 after Feb. 1 and no later than Dec. 15. The applications should be directed to the attention of Ms. Linda Manske.

Appointments to the Coast Guard Academy are tendered solely on the basis of an annual nationwide competition and do not involve Congressional appointments. Interested individuals should apply directly to the Director of Admissions, U.S. Coast Guard Academy, New London, Conn. 06320.

Public Opinion Invited

The future of parks and recreation in San Mateo County will be the subject of a meeting today at 2 p.m. in the county Board of Supervisors chambers, 401 Marshall St., Redwood City.

At the meeting, the public will be invited to comment on goals, objectives and policies outlined in the draft of the parks and recreation portion of the county's general plan, which is being revised.

Hearing the public comments will be the county's Planning Commission and Parks and Recreation Commission.

The draft is the culmination of two years of study on recreational needs. In preparing the draft, the Department of Environmental Management held six public meetings, one public workshop and asked for feedback from citizens in a widely distributed questionnaire. A 20-member citizens advisory committee appointed by the county supervisors assisted.

There will be a staff presentation and slide show at the meeting before the commissions call for remarks from the public.

After the public hearing is closed, the commissions will be asked to approve the document and recommend its adoption to the Board of Supervisors.

The supervisors are expected to consider the draft for final adoption in March.

Mark Duino, a county planner, stressed that the draft does not go into specific details about recreational needs for the county. "This is not a specific site plan. It does not name any site for acquisition and development," he said.

He said the county has been disappointed in the minimal public participation in the plan to date. "What we found is that if you don't have anything controversial, you won't get a crowd," he remarked.

Copies of the draft are available for $1 at the county Planning Department in Redwood City.

"Your body is a three million-year-old healer. Over three million years of evolution on this planet it has developed many ways to project and heal itself . . . Your body can easily heal a cut without you." With these words Cris Popenoe introduces one of the chapters in her book, which she calls "Wellness" (Published by Yes! Inc. and distributed by Random House, $4.95)

"You have all the knowledge, tools, materials and energy necessary to keep yourself healthy. The way to allow your three million-year-old healer to heal you is to get out of its way."

POPENOE contends that human beings prevent their bodies from functioning properly. Through improper diet, through anger and worry, through foolish actions we break up the harmony with nature that our bodies can enjoy.

"When the mind holds ideas such as worry, fear, anger, jealousy, hate, etc., your body manifests these feelings as muscle tension, decreased blood flow and abnormal hormonal secretions. Eventually these states of consciousness result in disease. In this way people literally create their own diseases."

"When your mind entertains ideas and feelings of love, joy, peace, harmony and openness (knowing and understanding fear, anger, jealousy, hate, etc., but also understanding that you need not hold onto these feelings) your body manifests these feelings as relaxation, acceptance, radiance, alertness and a natural flow of blood, energy and hormones. This is a healthy state. Through your thoughts and feelings you create your own well body."

"WELLNESS" IS a guide to the whole range of holistic health and healing. It covers a wide field; from natural childbirth to acupuncture to fasting and nutrition; from bioenergetics to cookbooks to organic gardening. In each section it lists books that are found upon the shelves of the Yes Bookstore in Washington D.C., which is the largest "health food" bookstore in the United States.

Cris Popenoe grew interested in holistic medicine when she was 19 years old. Her interest grew into a hobby as she earned a bachelor's degree in international relations and a master's degree in Latin American studies. Her hobby became a profession when she started a study of degenerative diseases — such as cancer and arthritis — which destroy the life and health of thousands of people.

She noticed that with each passing year medical care seemed to be costing more and "delivering less." This prompted her to start Yes Bookstore as a mecca for people who wanted books that "do not challenge the practice of medical doctors but offer a parallel movement toward health and happiness."

CRIS SAYS THAT the books annotated in her list are timeless books that help one realize that "our purpose in this world is to work on our own development and evolution, and through that the development and evolution of humankind in general."

In "Wellness," many searchers will find what Popenoe calls "food for spirit, mind and body." As a book it illustrates that the American society has reached a place in its development when guides to books on this subject are necessary.

After listening to Ms. Popenoe talk to a number or reviewers, a prominent San Francisco minister said "She is very good in all that she is attempting to do; but she does impress me that she is trying to re-invent the wheel." He spoke thus after hearing Popenoe admit that she is seeking guidance from the health rules of Eastern religions but has ignored those found in the various sects of the Judeo-Christian tradition.

SSF Wins, 2 Overtimes

Regents, Rams Tune Up for NPL Showdown

By CLAUDE HENRY

Serramonte High's basketball squad is not well known for its defense.

But you'd have a hard time convincing host El Camino of that fact after undefeated Serramonte ran past the Colts 70-49 in North Peninsula League action Friday night.

Elsewhere in the NPL, South San Francisco held off visiting Jefferson 61-58 in double overtime, Westmoor squeaked by host Half Moon Bay 62-58 and Terra Nova swamped visiting Oceana 69-41.

Serramonte-El Camino

El Camino's strategy seemed simple enough: cut off Serramonte's fast break attack, and force them into an unfamiliar slow-paced game.

However, El Camino wasn't counting on Serramonte's shooting 65 percent (15-for-23) from the floor in the first half. Neither were the Colts expecting Serramonte to play such a sticky man-to-man defense throughout the contest.

Playmaking guard Laron Franklin picked apart the bewildered Colts in the early going as Serramonte jumped out to a 16-13 first-quarter advantage.

The Regents steadily increased their lead, and Ricky Mixon's two free throws with just one second remaining sent Serramonte into the locker room up 34-23.

El Camino appeared doomed when star center Kenny Rhodes picked up his fourth foul just two minutes into the third period, but Rhodes remained in the contest, and it was his play that keyed El Camino's comeback.

Serramonte quickly felt Rhodes' presence on the court, as twice in succession Rhodes swatted away Regent shots, and converted them into baskets on the other end of the court. And after guard Dwayne Curry's steal and breakaway layup with 0:48 left in the third stanza the Colts had closed to within 44-39.

But Serramonte went back to work on its defensive game and held El Camino scoreless for more than three minutes. By that time Serramonte had built its lead to 48-39, and after three quick points by El Camino the Regents put the game out of reach with a run of 10-2.

Mixon led all scorers with 22, and Franklin contributed 14 to the Regent cause. Center Lou Tinsley added 12, while containing Rhodes to just 12 points.

Dwayne Curry chipped in 11 points for EC.

Jefferson-South City

The first half of the contest looked like an audition for The Gong Show with South City holding a slim 27-26 lead.

In the turnover-riddled half 14 fouls were called, and in the second quarter alone SSF converted seven of 12 free throws, while Jefferson managed 6-for-10.

The pace might have picked up in the third period, but the scoring didn't. The Warriors, with a newfound offensive board attack, scored the first six points to grab a 33-26 lead. But after maintaining a 35-28 advantage they were held scoreless the remainder of the quarter while Jefferson closed to within 35-32.

South City appeared to have the game well in hand with a 44-35 lead with just 3:29 to play. But a pair of charity tosses and a spinning 15-foot baseline jumper by guard Bob Oller brought the Indians within 44-39.

After Jeff forced another turnover with its halfcourt trap press, Indian center Larry Woods hit a floating layup, and the one-time safe SSF lead had been cut to three.

Then moments later Woods came back with a steal at mid-court and took off for the hoop. Reaching the foul line, he held the ball high and spiked a vicious-looking flying slam dunk and the Jefferson fans went crazy. He was fouled on the play and his tantalizing free throw dropped to knot the score at 44-44 and send the contest into overtime.

Once again SSF appeared to have sewn up a win when George Niualiku converted a free throw giving South City a 51-46 lead with under one minute left in overtime.

After an Oller bucket, Keith Washington hit a free toss with 0:22 remaining and the Warriors led 52-48. But Woods tipped in a missed shot with two seconds on the clock, and Jefferson immediately called time out.

South City threw the inbounds pass the length of the court, but when no one touched it Jefferson regained possession under its own hoop with one tick showing on the clock.

The ball was lobbed into Woods, who spun and flipped in an eight-footer that cleared the nets as the buzzer sounded, and Jeff had tied it again 52-52.

The second overtime belonged to Warrior sub Bill Vaden who hit two crucial layups and a pair of FT's. Keith Washington's free throw with 0:06 finally iced the victory for SSF 61-58.

Vaden came off the bench to pace SSF with 14 points, and Niualiku added 11, including 9-for-11 from the line. Larry Woods led all scorers with 21, and Oller chipped in 18 points in a losing cause.

Westmoor-Half Moon Bay.

Westmoor won a seesaw battle thanks to the accurate shooting of guard Kenny Baptista.

Baptista canned four free throws down the stretch after Half Moon Bay had tied the score 58-58, as Westmoor maintained its hold on second place, awaiting its showdown with league-leading visitor Serramonte next Wednesday at 3:15 p.m.

Sophomore Troy Williams led a well-balanced Ram attack with 15 points. Also hitting double figures from Westmoor were Baptista and forward Tony Limutau with 14, and Mark Navarro with 12. Half Moon Bay's Barry Short led all scorers with 21 points, and Dave Bradley and John Galvin added 19 and 12 points, respectively.

Oceana-Terra Nova

Terra Nova jumped out to a 13-6 lead after one quarter and steadily built the lead throughout the contest, outscoring Oceana in each period.

Center Rich Belli topped the scorers with 16, while teammate Greg Miles added 14. Oceana was paced by Kendall Mason with 11, and forwards Steve Rice and Eric Claybon with 10 each.

Super Slop Sunday

Le Pacini

I've seen duller Super Bowls, but never a sloppier one. Fumbles, interceptions, bumbed up handoffs, too many men on the field, spiking while the clock is running, ineligible men downfield — it was a deja vu. Like watching the 49ers — on both sides. Now the rest of the United States knows what we went through all season.

You knew it was curtains for Denver, both practically and symbolically, when Dallas fullback Robert Newhouse, who does a perpetual imitation of a black Mickey Rooney with muscles, threw a perfect touchdown pass despite the fact that it was his first pass of the season, the third attempt of his six-year professional career, that he threw it on the run and across his body (only the best passers are supposed to be capable of throwing in the direction opposite of which they're running), and that, because of his lack of height, almost certainly threw it blind.

TWO THINGS happened to Denver that hadn't happened to them all year. Known as a team that never made mistakes and indeed capitalized on opponents' mistakes better than any other team, they were the ones who made the turnovers, although their defense was as stout as ever, keeping the Cowboys from being able to take full advantage of those mistakes. And known as a strong second-half and particularly spectacular fourth-quarter scoring machine, they were shut out in that final stanza. Which proves once again that the morning line usually means very little in a big game.

Phyllis George, however, took the inastute prize for the day, when she grandly intoned at game's end (obviously, before cooler heads could get to her) that, "Who knows what might have happened had Norris Weese (backup Denver quarterback) entered the game sooner." Weese, contended George, "came in and sparked the Broncos to their only touchdown."

The fact is that had Weese started the results probably would have been about the same, and maybe even worse, because Weese's inexperience might have shone brighter in a longer stint.

WEESE DIDN'T spark that one Denver touchdown, it was "sparked" and set up by Rick Upchurch's Super Bowl record 67-yard kickoff return, and then by a clutch 16-yard sweep by 240-pound rookie fullback Jim Jensen on a fourth-and-one situation. He got to the one yard line, from which Rob Lytle banged in.

As for Weese's statistics, he made a few good runs during garbage time, but his passing statistics were nearly as pathetic as Craig Morton's had been. Or is four completions for 22 yards in 10 tries now considered a big NFL day?

I learned — or confirmed — two other things during this Super Bowl.

One: Anybody can be a color man in almost any sport if he learns a few key phrases, such as "They now have the momentum," "They are setting the tempo," "They are out of rhythm," "He is now getting into the flow," and like that.

Two: I am finally convinced that, as I long have felt, instant replay for use as an officiating device would cause more problems than it would solve.

PHILOSOPHICALLY, it would be bad because it would take away more authority, and with it some degree of dignity, from the officials. If anything, judging from the rise of violence in all sports, officials need MORE authority, must be given MORE respect.

Practically, no camera or number of cameras or positions of cameras can replace the human eye. The cameras never did solve the puzzle of Franco Harris' Immaculate Reception, for example. And in that play in which Roger Staubach stepped out of bounds on a pass attempt, thereby nullifying a Bronco interception, the overhead camera shot was totally inconclusive.

THERE ARE some strange things happening at USF, despite the veneer of a winning season. Of course, there is the head coach who announced his pre-season resignation from a successful team apparently still a year away from reaching its peak; a team which had been painstakingly recruited by the coach. There is that unusual quirk, as noted here two weeks ago, of the team having no sophomores on its roster.

But perhaps strangest of all is the almost mysterious disappearance (hardly a word out of the USF publicity department) of three supposedly promising benchmen from last year's team: seniors (this year) Joe Damm, a guard; Ray Hamilton, a forward, and Erik Gilberg, a junior guard. Damm and Hamilton just sort of slid away in the summer, while Gilberg transferred to the Ivy League several games into the current season.

Not strange is the fact that the Dons, particularly when they were re-grouping without center Bill Cartwright earlier in the season, missed the steady scoring of a swingman Marlon Redmond, who came very close to making it with the Warriors this year.

IN SHORT, for some reason the Dons, despite the extra year of experience for the young team, are not as solid this year as they were last.

A hint comes from statistics as they were up to this writing. The Dons were third from last in the WCAC in defense (Portland was tops), and despite their league-leading offense, were second to Portland in scoring margin, with a difference of 11 points as against Portland's 17.

One thing I'd like to see is more playing time for guard Rod Williams, the kid from Hillsdale High. He's the best outside shooter on the team and is seventh in the WCAC in assists (Chubby Cox is third) despite coming off the bench.

Actually, I feel that Williams could be more the floor leader than Cox, who often seems to abdicate that role when he himself gets caught up in the frenzy of the Dons' proclivity to turn to schoolyard, one-on-one basketball. Williams, on the other hand, seems a steady, cooler head, often a sharper passer, and in general more in touch with the concept of a team play.

IT COMES DOWN to this with the Warriors: when Phil Smith and Rick Barry are both hot, the Warriors win; when they're both cold, the Warriors lose; and when one is good and the other is bad, the outcome of the game depends on how bad the opponent is.

HOPE, NOW, that the Big 10 finally has gotten the message that it's not as good as the Pac-8, after the Pac-8 win over the Big 10 in the newly conceived Challenge Bowl. In case you missed it during all of the Super Bowl hullabaloo, that was an all-star match between the two leagues in which, ironically, the Big 10, way down early in the eventual 27-20 game, HAD to pass and eventually out-passed the Pac-8, who merely — also ironically — gained about four times more yardage than the midwesterners on the ground.

But perhaps something good for Woody's conference came out of the game. Maybe they found out that, by golly, the pass isn't so evil, after all.

GIANTS' NOTE: The Giants are switching their number one draft pick, Craig Landis, to right field, where his powerful throwing arm will be an asset and, presumably, he will be better able to concentrate on his high hitting potential. Originally signed as a shortstop and then switched to third base, he was found lacking in range at the former and wanting for sure hands at the latter post.

Serra Rally Is A Point Short

By JOHN MURPHY

SANTA CLARA — One must have nerves of steel to coach or play in the West Catholic Athletic League. It is not a league for the faint of heart.

In WCAL action Friday night all three games were decided by a single point. Host Bellarmine held off Serra 48-47, Sacred Heart topped visiting Mitty 49-48 in overtime and league-leading Riordan nipped host St. Francis 61-60 in overtime.

Riordan is now alone atop the WCAL standings with a 5-1 record. Four teams — St. Francis, St. Ignatius, Sacred Heart and Bellarmine — are tied for second at 3-3 and Serra and Mitty are both 2-4.

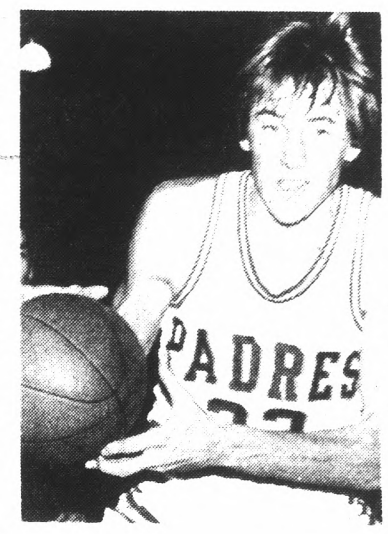
Serra could have given up several times in its contest with Bellarmine. Like when Bellarmine mounted a 13-point lead midway through the third quarter, or when the Bells led 47-42 with 1:41 left in the game.

But Serra kept coming back.

The Padres trailed 38-25 in the third period before scoring eight straight points to close the gap to 38-33 entering the fourth quarter.

Bellarmine hit the first bucket of the final stanza, but then Serra scored seven straight as it tied the game with 4:04 remaining on a pair of free throws by guard John Baldi.

Bellarmine countered with a three-point play, but sub forward Kevin Scully made a sweeping lefthanded shot to pull Serra to within 43-42 with 3:05 left.



(Times Photo)

Serra's Paul Peterson

Things then began to look grim for the Padres as Bellarmine scored the next four points and held a five-point advantage with the ball in its possession with 1:41 left.

However, Serra center Paul Peterson came up with a steal in the backcourt and Padre forward Preston Neumayer was fouled with 1:16 left.

Neumayer hit both ends of the one-and-one to make it 47-44 before Bellarmine stretched its lead to 48-44 with a single free throw at 0:34.

But Scully gave the Padres life with 20 seconds left as he hit a turnaround jumper and was fouled. Scully made the free throw to pull Serra to within one.

Bellarmine was then fouled with 11 seconds left and had a one-and-one opportunity. Serra called two consecutive time outs to give the Bells some time to think about the free throw.

The strategy worked as Bellarmine missed and Peterson pulled down the rebound. Serra called another timeout with six seconds left.

When play resumed Serra inbounded the ball to Neumayer, who drove to the basket but passed up a 15-footer from the right side of the key.

Instead, Neumayer passed inside to Peterson. Peterson wheeled to the basket but knocked over a Bellarmine player in the process and was called for an offensive foul. That was it for the Padres.

Serra's next game will be against St. Ignatius Wednesday night at Serra. The Padres edged SI 44-42 in their league opener on Jan. 3.

Standout junior forward Rich McGlennon led Serra with 14 points. Also hitting double figures for the Padres were Baldi with 12 and Peterson with 10.

DVC Stall Beats the Bulldogs

PLEASANT HILL — College of San Mateo's basketball team fell victim to a prolonged stall Friday night and lost to Diablo Valley, 60-58.

DVC evened its Golden Gate Conference record at 3-3 while CSM fell to 1-5.

The Bulldogs didn't shoot well in the early going, but Diablo Valley made numerous mistakes and CSM led 28-25 at the half.

The Vikings rallied at the opening of the second half, outscoring CSM 8-2 — and then went into a four-corner delay.

CSM did its best to battle back. Center Mike Jett was aggressive on the boards and in the lane, shutting down DVC pivotman Ken Craft (who tallied only two points).

Ralph Jackson, in his first start for the Bulldogs, got some important rebounds in the second half, and teamed with Keith Burroughs to hold Chabot's top scorer, Mark Harski, to two field goals.

CSM narrowed the gap to two, 60-58, and had a chance to tie when the Bulldogs turned the ball over with 1:04 remaining. DVC kept control the rest of the way.

John Nichols led CSM scorers with 21 points, and Burroughs had 12. Jett hauled down 13 rebounds.

Skyline Does It On the Outside

An old cliche that has followed the sport of basketball since the days of Dr. James Naismith is "the team that lives by the outside shot, will die by the outside shot."

If it hadn't been for the outside shooting of Skyline College guard Ted Scott, the Trojans probably would be dead and out of the running for a shot at defending the Coast Conference championship. Skyline narrowly escaped with a fourth consecutive league win, edging visiting Cabrillo College 71-62 Saturday night.

Skyline hosts Peninsula rival Menlo College this Saturday evening at 7:30 in a battle of the two conference leaders, with both teams carrying perfect 4-0 marks. Troy is still ranked as the number one team in the small division state pool, while the Oaks are right behind in the number two slot.

Against Cabrillo, the locals were never able to get their fast break offense in gear and a stubborn Seahawk defense forced many SC turnovers and mistakes.

Going into the second half, Skyline led 35-26 but Cabrillo center Steve Olds brought his team to within six at 42-36. However, a three-point play by Scott (on a top of the key jump shot that zipped right through the net and the free throw) built the SC advantage back to 51-40.

Scott, who finished as the game's leading scorer with 29 points, connected on 12 of 19 shots, most on corner jumpers. The sophomore veteran from Westmoor High School, also was tied for the team lead with center Brad Levesque, with eight rebounds. Soph forward Jerry McNeil also turned in a good scoring night, canning 18 points.

Serramonte Girls Dunk El Camino

By SIMI LEE

El Camino ran out of steam as Serramonte ripped off a 20-4 fourth quarter behind Yolanda Newton's 19 and Sheila Calabro's 20 points to take a 59-48 decision.

The Serramonte juniors pulled in a combined 20 rebounds and scored at a 63 percent clip.

Guard Becky Myers dismantled Oceana's slow down tactics by canning 20 points to push Terra Nova to a lackluster 39-17 win.

SSF guard Robin Petrini scored 27 points while Fran Simontacchi chipped in 15 to dump Jefferson, 75-18.

NELL NORTON

Good morning, good cooks.

Family meal. Company meal. Picnic. Cookout. Bridge party. Covered supper dish. Church bazaar. Club meeting.

Whatever the occasion, there's a kind of salad that's economical, easy to prepare and a great crowd-pleaser. It's rice salad — and the variations are numerous and delightful.

You can cook up a big container of rice at one time to make enough rice for meals for the week because, covered and refrigerated, cooked rice keeps its quality and flavor for six or seven days.

Rice's delicate flavor blends well with many foods — leftovers, vegetables or meats, such as chicken or roast — to make the salad hearty and satisfying. It takes to a variety of dressings too — bottled, homemade, mayonnaise, creamy or oil and vinegar types. And a rice salad goes well with main course hot or cold food, seafood poultry or meat.

If the occasion is especially festive, rice salads can be molded easily to give a party look.

For a free leaflet, Quick and Easy Rice Salads for any Occasion, with some tempting new rice salad recipes — write for "Rice Salads" to Rice Council of America, P.O. Box 22802, Houston, Tex. 77027. In the meantime, try this delicious Olive-Egg-Rice Salad.

OLIVE-EGG-RICE SALAD

3 cups cooked rice
1 cup chopped green onions
2 tablespoons chopped parsley
2 tablespoons diced pimento
1 cup sliced ripe olives
Salt and pepper to taste
½ cup mayonnaise
¼ cup creamy French dressing
1 tablespoon lemon juice
3 hard-cooked eggs, grated

Combine the three cups rice, one cup green onions, two tablespoons each parsley and pimento, one cup sliced ripe olives. Season to taste with salt and pepper. Chill. Blend the half-cup mayonnaise, fourth cup French dressing and one tablespoon lemon juice. Spoon over salad. Sprinkle with grated eggs. Serve on salad greens, garnished with cherry tomatoes and cold cuts. Makes 6 to 8 servings.

Donations to Senior Citizen Event Urged

Contributions are being sought for the annual Daly City Senior Citizens Luncheon, this year to be Feb. 25 at the War Memorial Community Center from 10 a.m. to 3 p.m.

The luncheon is co-sponsored by the City of Daly City and local businessmen and is expected to draw at least 475 senior citizens.

Daly City Mayor Al Teglia has appealed to businessmen and organizations to donate money to help with purchase of food, refreshments and table decorations. Food typically has been donated by local markets, as has entertainment and services of a local caterer, Teglia noted.

Checks may be made payable to "Senior Citizens Luncheon" and mailed to Teglia at City Hall, Sullivan Avenue and 90th St., Daly City 94015.

ODCPA For 3 in D.C. Race

Directors of the Original Daly City Protective Association, one of Daly City's most politically active neighborhood associations, have announced their support of William J. Schumacher, Victor Kyriakis and James Tucker for election to the City Council March 7.

Schumacher and Kyriakis are incumbents in the council race, while Tucker ran unsuccessfully two years ago.

"We like the three candidates' strong support of housing rehabilitation," said ODCPA director Conrad Payellas.

Pavellas said the ODCPA interviewed the three candidates on such issues as redevelopment, senior citizens' programs, youth opportunities, zoning limitations and garbage rates and was pleased with their stands.

San Bruno Preparing Blood Drive

San Bruno's Community Blood Bank has scheduled its annual blood drive for March 4.

Thus, the San Bruno City Council this week approved the date for the blood drive and granted the Blood Bank permission to place a sign advertising the drive in front of City Hall during late February and early March.

The council also contributed $125 to the Blood Bank, the same amount it has given in previous years.

"Our plans include our Annual Blood Drive at Parkside School from 8 a.m. to noon," David M. Nigel, Blood Bank publicity chairman, informed the council in a letter. "This activity gives San Bruno residents the opportunity to donate blood and receive a free breakfast."

The drive resulted in the donation of 41 pints of blood last year.

New Quarters for N. County Papers

North County publications of the Amphlett Printing Co., publisher of The Times, will move to larger quarters by late April, General Manager Harold Schlotthauer announced today.

Involved in the move to 1331 San Mateo Ave., South San Francisco, will be the San Bruno Herald, Daly City Herald, South San Francisco and Millbrae editions of the Recorder-Progress, the Coastside Chronicle and the North County Post, according to Schlotthauer.

The firm's weekly and twice-weekly publications have been headquartered in San Bruno for many years. Schlotthauer said the company, after several months of search, was stalemated in its efforts to acquire an adequate San Bruno location.

"Although we are moving to South San Francisco physically," Schlotthauer said, "we have no intention of letting our editorial efforts falter.

"Indeed, moving into nearly four times the amount of floor space, where we can modernize our total North County operation, our advertising, circulation and editorial functions and service can be expected to improve."

The newspapers will continue to serve their customers and contacts through the same telephone numbers and San Bruno post office box used today, according to the general manager.

Additionally, the Amphlett official explained, contacts concerning news, legal notices, classified and display advertising and circulation can be made at the South San Franicsco building, which is being redesigned to accommodate the newspaper operation.

"We plan to maintain an active role in each of the communities we serve," Schlotthauer said. "Our reporters will be as visible as ever and our advertising and circulation staffs will be no less accessible."

The North County operation will continue to serve as a news bureau for The Times in the new location, Schlotthauer said.

Help Wanted

The following agencies have requested volunteer assistance from the Volunteer Bureau/Voluntary Action Center of San Mateo County, with offices in Burlingame, Daly City and Redwood City.

The local phone number for area residents is 992-0957, an answering service. Residents also may contact the main office in Burlingame at 342-0801, from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. Monday through Friday.

FRIENDS TO PARENTS — Volunteers are needed to assist and befriend isolated and inexperienced teenage and young parents. Volunteers work on a one-to-one basis and the next training session will begin Jan. 30 in the evening. An interview is required prior to the training.

HILLCREST JUVENILE HALL — A big brother is needed for a 17-year-old boy in need of an older male role model to spend time with him about once a week. The volunteer needs to be reliable and responsible and the time can be arranged.

FUN ENCOUNTER THEATER — This theatre group with a psychology orientation is seeking a volunteer to help in a general capacity. This would involve very light typing, answering the telephone, assisting with performances as needed.

YWCA — A woman with skills or some background in crafts is needed to help an art program and coordinate the program once it begins. This will involve approximately three hours weekly, during the day.

COYOTE POINT MUSEUM — Applications are being taken for the Foothill Docent Training course for persons interested in conducting nature study walks in the foothill areas for school children. The training will be Thursdays from Jan. 26 through May 3 from 9:30 a.m. to 12:30 p.m. and college credit is available. The only prerequisite is an interest in working with children and learning more about local foothill areas.

Additional information about these and other volunteer opportunities may be obtained by contacting the Volunteer Bureau at the telephone numbers listed or by dropping by the main office in Burlingame, 119 Primrose Road. Interviews will be made in Daly City by appointment. A project of the Assistance League of San Mateo County, the Bureau shares in the United Way of the Bay Area and is funded, in part, by the County of San Mateo.

A total of 51,000 unduplicated circulation in the Total Market Coverage Area (82% penetration of the 61,775 households) and 20,000 circulation of The Times outside the Total Market Coverage Area.

ADVERTISER BENEFITS

Amphlett Printing Company's new TMC plan provides unduplicated high household penetration (82% initially, to be increased as plan expands) that combines the area's most widely read and most frequently used for shopping daily newspaper with a well read, established and accepted weekly newspaper that offers unduplicated household coverage.

This TMC plan offers more than just distribution, it offers proven readership. The Times and The Post have developed and maintained readership by producing the best combination of an excellent editorial product and more local advertising (the second highest read feature of newspapers) than any other newspaper or newspaper combination available in San Mateo County.

NOTE: The Post's unduplicating computerized distribution system began November 15 and will be expanded until all routes in the Total Market Coverage Area have been revised. Circlation of The Post, when the TMC plan is completed, is projected to be between 25,000 and 30,000, which will provide between 80%-90% TMC household penetration.

Plans are now being made to expand the TMC area into Burlingame. The non-duplicating computerized distribution system will be used for delivery of the Recorder-Progress to non-subscribers of The Times.

Animal Shelter 'One of Finest'

By LIN DAY

The president of the Humane Society of the United States said Friday that the Peninsula Humane Society, which operates the shelter at Coyote Point "is one of the finest in the United States — we were proud to grant it accreditation."

John Hoyt, of Washington, D.C., here to keynote a two-day workshop at the Airport Marina Hotel in Burlingame, told a press conference that many humane societies in this country will not receive accreditation. Representatives of more than two dozen local societies attended the workshop session.

The accreditation procedure, begun about a year ago, he said, is not anticipated to find the societies all measuring up.

Coming at a time when many are criticizing humane societies, the procedure will set a standard whereby one can measure performance, Hoyt said. "It will grow, " he said, and "may sometime mean something, just as the Good Housekeeping Seal of Approval or the American Hospital Association approval have done."

What the national association looks to, he said, is being able to help local societies reach the standards of performance. The national office is now considering setting up a foundation, low interest loan program to make that possible, he said.

As an example of inadequacy, he said some shelters may have poorly-ventilated or inadequate runs for the animals.

The matter came up in his talk to about 75 persons attending the workshop.

Hoyt, criticizing a number of institutions that some feel victimize animals, had mentioned vivisection.

IMPRESSED ON VISIT

John Hoyt, HSUS president.

"However," he said, "the medical profession, in the face of criticism, could have turned the tables.

"They could have taken just as close a look at some of the humane shelters."

"At HSUS, all we can do is assist the shelters. We are going to be busy for a long time."

To those present whose shelters were not accredited, Hoyt said:

"I'd like you to consider the possibility of your being accredited. We are not after your money or your membership lists. We want to help you."

Hoyt later explained to the press that the HSUS, developed from the more-than-100-year-old American Humane Society when some members left in 1954 to set up their own organization, feeling that more aggressive campaigning, particularly on the national level, was needed.

Whereas the AHS was a federation with delegate membership, he said, HSUS is a 60,000-member organization. He said AHS appeared to be moving into the area of child abuse.

Today, he said, HSUS is more heavily staffed than AHS and does a vigorous lobbying and legislative job in Washington.

Hoyt candidly told the workshop that sometimes even those working together for humane purposes may disagree. He gave as an example the impending visit of a Canadian government delegation, of which two members are friends of his and active in humane work in Canada, to the Bay area.

Because the economy of Canada will profit, he said, and because the death method is the most humane, the Canadians are attempting to soften American attitudes toward that country's killing of Harp seals, he said.

He explained that the seal pups have white coats and make interesting fur coats.

"I can't understand nor can I accept that clubbing seals for luxury fur products is an appropriate use of animals...I cannot support my brethren," Hoyt said.

His talk, entitled "A Matter of Values," admitted that value judgments had to be made frequently in dealing with the field.

"The humane movement has a very special role to play in the formulation of those values that shall ultimately direct and govern man's relationship with other men and all other creatures with whom he shares this planet," Hoyt said.

"Even within the humane movement itself," he continued, "there is no one testament of belief and purpose, let alone a common agreement on such details as structure, tactics and goals.

"Yet is is generally agreed that the primary purpose of the humane movement is the prevention of cruelty and suffering to animals."

Hoyt provided his own formula, however, in a discussion of dealing with problems before the legislatures, on some of which, he admitted "we expect to lose."

Citing that HSUS has joined in calling for boycotting of all tuna products until the fishing industry ceases to kill dolphins in the catching of tuna, and in boycotting the purchase of Japanese and Russian products so long as these countries continue to threaten the existence of some whales, Hoyt declared:

"We are in this business to make a witness. I want to be counted. I want to take a positive political action in support of values that are meaningful."

Hoyt admitted that those who love animals may have to acknowledge certain utilization of animals while at the same time seeking restraints and conditions that would protect animals from abuse and cruelty.

A simplistic approach, he said, would be to decline such utilization as do vegetarians, anti-vivsectionists and others. It is not one, he said, "embraced by our civilization."

Some of areas that seem unnecessary, he said, are hunting and shooting animals for sport, trapping for fur products, cock fighting and bull fighting, endurance and rodeo rides, and research not in the service of animals or man.

Citing that humans and animals are inextricably linked in the civilization in which they live, he said that man today is as dependent upon animals (whether for food or companionship or other purposes) as they are on man.

He quoted Albert Schweitzer's remark that "Life becomes harder for us when we live for others, but it also becomes richer and happier."

Following the noon luncheon, the workshop discussed methods of getting legislation passed, value of spay and neuter programs, forensic photography, steps for improving animal control.

It concluded the day with a tour of the Peninsula shelter.

Saturday, Eric Sakach led off the program with a discussion of new programs and the humane image, followed by a talk by Carolyn Dobervich on putting the society on the map and making it known through the news media.

After lunch, Charlene Drennon was to discuss fund raising, and John Tiernan administering of sodium pentobarbital.

Among the discussion leaders was Phyllis Wright, animal control specialist for HSUS and former manager of the Washington, D.C. Animal Rescue league. Richard Ward, Peninsula director, gave the welcome.

Colleges Rely on Firm Foundation

By JOHN HORGAN

Of all the 50 states in the union, California is the only one left with a tuition-free community college system.

Even at that, some students here need financial assistance to continue their education.

That's where the Foundation for the San Mateo County Community College District comes in.

Now 11 years old, the foundation provides loans and scholarships for students from the district's three colleges, Skyline, Canada and College of San Mateo.

In 1976-77, the foundation served 554 students, 348 of whom received scholarships. The rest got loans.

Most of the scholarships are small. They usually average between $100 and $200. Occasionally, one can be worth a great deal. A former CSM student is currently receiving $1,400 per year to continue her medical school studies at Harvard.

Last year, there were four other CSM scholarships worth $1,000 each, according to Marvin Miller, the foundation's financial secretary.

A total of $70,658 worth of scholarships was awarded at the district's three schools last year. CSM got most of that money. CSM, the oldest and largest of the schools, is the place where the foundation began.

In 1965-66, several faculty wills were probated which left considerable sums of money and securities to CSM. The investments were intended to produce earnings which could then be used for scholarships.

A non-profit, tax-exempt, non-district vehicle had to be established to handle all this. In November of 1966, the foundation was officially incorporated.

In the first year of existence, the foundation had assets worth $122,526. Last year, that figure had grown to $364,334.

Of that $364,334, $96,888 was in cash, $7,130 in student loans and other receivables, $165,316 in investments and $95,000 in appraised value of land.

The foundation's investment portfolio, which is monitored by a volunteer advisory committee of eight prominent financial experts, is dominated by bonds and debentures. About 40 percent of the portfolio is composed of stocks.

The foundation's stock selection is dominated by utilities. Foundation officials describe their investment array as "very conservative."

All of these investments produced $12,849 last year, according to the foundation's 1977 annual report.

There were also cash contributions of $67,510 and donated services and facilities worth another $12,628. Total contributions came to $80,138.

In all 93 individuals, groups, organizations and private firms donated money to the foundation last year.

When the idea for a foundation was conceived here, it was relatively unique. The local district became one of the few community college districts in the state with such an entity. Now, a number of two-year schools have foundations.

The main purpose of the foundation, of course, is scholarships. Almost without exception, the scholarships are intended for full-time students with at least a B average in their college work.

CSM has a scholarship for a student without a B average who possesses the potential for increasingly good academic work in the future.

"We call that our 'late-bloomer' scholarship," says Phil Morse, CSM's director of special services. Morse is in charge of the scholarship program at CSM.

"A lot of students couldn't be here if it weren't for their scholarships," he says.

"We have a lot of students here who are working 40 hours a week. They are grinding their way through."

Morse says a scholarship for a two-year student can be a significant stimulus to pursue studies beyond the community college level.

"It's really a kick for them," Morse says. "It's a recognition of achievement. And, the money might allow them to attend school on a full-time basis."

Last year, explains Morse, 200 students at CSM applied for scholarships. About 70 percent of them received one.

If competition for a scholarship has to be decided finally on need, that can occur, he says.

For Morse, one of the pleasures of his life is finding a student who can use a scholarship to open up academic and career vistas which might have been closed off before.

He cites the case of a 28-year-old woman — married, with one child — who comes from a family without a single college graduate.

"She came here as a secretarial student," recalls Morse. "She got all A's. Her instructors saw almost immediately that she was someone special. Her work was consistently excellent. She was advised to apply for a scholarship."

She received one. Now, she is attending Santa Clara University as a journalism major. She has a full scholarship at Santa Clara. And, Morse adds, she will graduate from that school with honors.

Says Morse, "We broadened her outlook. That scholarship meant everything to her."

He says the scholarship program has been a boon to district students.

"You can't believe it," he enthuses. "It's a whole new world for them. It shows them that someone gives a damn. It's the most exciting thing I do."
